

Dear IPA members, friends...

We invite you to enjoy together in the beauties of our country, to make friends and have fun during the week of friendship in the period from September 22nd till 29th, 2024. North Macedonia is a country with great opportunities, country with beautiful mountains, forests, lakes and rivers, located in the center of the Balkan Peninsula, it has been a peaceful place for decades. In addition to the beautiful natural treasures, including quality limestone rocks, you will find a special glimpse of culture and history. If you have an adventurous spirit and you are looking for a vacation destination that comfortably fits your style of exploration, North Macedonia should be on your list of possible destinations. Characterized and distinguished by natural beauty, rich cultural heritage and gourmet experience, North Macedonia has a long story to reveal and show.

We start our journey and socializing in the pearl of our country, Ohrid. Ohrid is a city in the southwestern part of Macedonia, on the northeast coast of Lake Ohrid, which is named after the city. Ohrid and Lake Ohrid are one of the main tourist spots in Macedonia. Due to the large number of churches and monasteries (over 365), the city is known as the Balkan and European Jerusalem. Ohrid is also known as the "city of light" and is included in the UNESCO world heritage. In the heart of Ohrid, we will visit the City Museum - the House of Robevci, the Church of Saint Sophia (Saint Wisdom), the Ancient Theater dating from the Hellenistic - Roman period, the Church of the Holy Virgin Perivlepta - XIII century, Samuil Fortress – 3rd century BC till X century, Saint John the Theologian Kaneo – XIII century. Ohrid was the most important educational center and source of literacy for all Slavic peoples. It houses the oldest university in Europe (IX century), while in Plaoshnik which is located in old city the restored church of St. Clement whose findings point to the fact that there was a university there from the 13th century.

After the walk through Ohrid, we leave for Bitola. The city known under the name "city of consuls", because the consular offices of European countries were located in Bitola during the Ottoman Empire, where, together with Thessaloniki, it was the most important place in the European part of the Empire. Even today, a large part of the consular missions in North Macedonia are located in Bitola. The first consulate in Bitola was opened in 1851 by the Austria-Hungarian Empire, right on Shirok Sokak. Later, the British and French will do it, and then the consuls from Russia, Italy, Serbia, Bulgaria and Romania will join them. The first lights on Shirok Sokak removed the darkness from the Clock Tower to the Officer's House at precisely 5 pm on December 24, 1924. At that time, offices of numerous foreign companies, prestigious cafes, pastry shops, and a branch of the Franco-Serbian Bank were located on Shirok Sokok. That first consular period was the inspiration for numerous songs of the consuls, about the pythons, about the pianos, about the famous "čkembe stew", about the Vlach neighborhood and the yellow houses, about love. The people of Bitola will say: "If you've been to Bitola and you haven't walked through Shirok Sokak, it's like you haven't seen anything". It is Bitola's korso, an exclusively pedestrian zone, the real heart of the city – here are the biggest shops, restaurants, the opera theater, galleries, many cafes and clubs. A great place to rest.

An international film camera festival of the "Manaki Brothers" is held in Bitola every year. The Manaki brothers were the first filmmakers in the Balkans and they opened the famous "Art Photography Studio". Even at that time, the Manaki brothers were famous photographers who put their own stamp and calligraphic signature on each photo. The seal, which is kept in the Bitola regional department of the Historical Archive of N. Macedonia, has a circular shape, and the text is written in the Vlach language language, in the Latin script.

The father of the Turkish nation, Kemal Atatürk, graduated from the officers' school in Bitola. Some of his works are kept in the National Museum today. The Mustafa Kemal Atatürk Memorial Room consists of several pieces of his life, including documents and facsimiles showing his activity and intimacy, as well as battle sketches, library, etc. In the memorial room, there is also a letter that is part of one of the most loving sagas in these areas. It is about the message of Eleni Karinte from Bitola to Atatürk. Their love remained unfulfilled, which is why many calls them the Balkan Romeo and Juliet. Take a photo under the balcony of Karinte, from where the lovers constantly met their gazes, enter the room dedicated to one of the most striking historical figures, who declared "Peace in the state, peace in the world" and get to know better his life, which in large part he spent his youth precisely in N. Macedonia.

After a walk through Shirok Sokak, we continue our journey to the unique small town of Krushevo, the city of the former Krushevo Republic (1903). At 1,350 meters above sea level, Krushevo is the only mountain town in North Macedonia and the highest town on the Balkans. Above the city is the famous monument Makedonium. In the center of the city, the neighborhood alleys, steep and narrow, bend, break and climb, following the terrain and the unwritten rules of the old urban agglomerations. The bazaar is made up of a series of small craft and commercial shops, lined up next to each other. It is the most picturesque part of the city, to which the neighborhoods continue, where the whole life takes place. Some of the old trades still exist from the once widely known Krushevo bazaar: tinsmith, kujundzhi, kazandzhi, shoemaker, goldsmith and others.

All of them work as coopers, coppersmiths, coppersmiths, bakers, carpenters, etc.

Krushevo is the hometown of Tose Proeski (January 25, 1981 – October 16, 2007), who in a short time became the most popular singer in N. Macedonia and one of the biggest stars on the Balkan music scene. In 2004, he was named a UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador. He died tragically in a traffic accident. Posthumously, he was declared an honorary citizen of Macedonia. Kruševo, his birthplace, repaid him with the opening of the memorial house on April 25, 2011. The object is built of concrete and glass in the shape of a cross on an area of 870 square meters. The museum display provides a chronological play from childhood and teenage years to the period when Toše reached the peak of his artistic career, enriched by 350 authentic exhibits owned by the Proeski family. In the central part, there is a prayer book, Toshe's religious objects and several of his written thoughts about love, family, friendship. Two life-size wax figures of Toche are also part of the setting. From Krushevo, the city full of history, we leave for the heart of our country in Tikvesh, the region that represents the largest vineyard in the Balkans. Wine is one of the symbols of the Macedonian country. The greatest secret of the flavors of Macedonian wines is the sun, which in the regions of Central Macedonia gives specificity to each grain of grape. Here you will experience the centuries-old viticulturally tradition of the Povardarie - Tikvesh region, where the geographical position, the fertile soil and the climatic conditions are perfectly combined to form unique flavors of varietal grapes.

With just one look at the amazing landscape and one sip of wine, you will fall in love with the unique taste and magical feeling when you walk through the old vineyards. Together we will enjoy the taste of authentic Macedonian food and we will taste Macedonian wines. We believe that you will remember the taste of the wines from this country and the irresistible charm of these landscapes. The story for Macedonian wine is a story with countless characters, flavors and secrets of recipes that have traditionally been passed down from generation to generation for centuries. "It is a story that knows no beginning and end" - this is the statement of the Macedonian winemakers who are very proud of their tradition of de-icing vineyards of many different and unique varieties and making wines.

Traveling through the wine rout from Kavadarci to Negotino, Demir Kapija to Gevgelija, where you will be overwhelmed by vineyards and large and small wineries that tell the Macedonian wine story in a very authentic way with their architecture, we will reach Strumica "The City of the Stars under the "Kings Towers". The thermal mineral treatment center in Strumica is located about 12 kilometers east of Strumica, near Belasica mountain. The healing Roman bath (thermal) had rooms for undressing, a sauna, pools with hot and cold water. It probably originates from the 11th century, from the time of the Roman emperor Caracalla, known for building and restoring baths throughout the Empire. Thermal mineral healing place in Strumica from ancient times is one of the few preserved Roman monuments of this kind in Europe, with a flow rate of over 50 l/sec. accidentally discovered during the digging of the foundations for the "Car Samuil" hotel in 1978 in Strumica, today the pools with natural water can be used within the hotel, where you can also try an egg boiled in the hot springs, with a specific taste.

In the surroundings of the spa there is a forest of linden and chestnut trees and several clear mountain streams. The fern from this Macedonian climate is protected by the UN. We will visit the Monastery of St. Mother of God Velusa, village Veljusa (11th century) one of the oldest Macedonian churches, which was never demolished, nor rebuilt as it was built, it is like that even today, with traces of the ravages of time. The monastery is located above the village of Veljusa near Strumica, a beautiful panoramic view of the Strumica Field. The monastery and lodges are famous for their architecture, fresco painting, mosaic floors and marble iconostasis.

From Strumica, we continue our journey to the city located at the far eastern part of our country, the place where the sun rises in the morning in the east, the city with the highest concentration of oxygen, Berovo. In Maleševia, nature has painted an idyllic picture that must be seen and experienced. The tame and meek landscapes of the Maleševski Mountains are equally beautiful in all seasons, whether you visit them when they are white with snow or when the scent of mountain tea wafts through the spring air. The pearl of the Maleševski Mountains is Berovo Lake. This artificial lake stretches along towering pine trees and it is located next to the village of Ratevo, 6 kilometers from the town of Berovo, at an altitude of 1000 meters. The surroundings of the lake abound with wonderful grounds for picnics, recreation and sports. Apparently, it is no different from other small places in the country, but when first meets with the hosts, the impression of Berovo and Maleševija is already formed, and by getting to know the natural rarities, the rich cultural and historical heritage, the secret that attracts thousands of visitors a year right here in this small town in the East.

Here you will relax away from the city noise, in beautiful and untouched nature, clean mountain air and a rich gastronomic scene, but don't forget to bring warm clothes. The place is a paradise for the eyes and the soul and a balm for the lungs. Due to the clean and fresh unpolluted air, the area around Berovo Lake decades ago applies to the most frequented, especially to the smallest ones. We will visit the Museum of the city of Berovo located in the center of the city and taste the famous specialties for which Maleševija is known in the field of gastronomy.

The high-quality mountain pine honey, Berovo cheese, white potatoes, sour milk, klisi with leeks, bulamac, bread baked in a wood-fired oven, kachamak with ribs - these are just some of the delicacies that cause real gourmet enjoyment. Most of the catering facilities in Berovo are dominated by traditional food made according to the recipes of grandmothers and greatgrandmothers from the Maleševia area. The spirit of these people, always united in one pure soul. Their faith is as calm as a drop of water on a palm.

From the most eastern town of Berovo, we continue our journey to Skopje, the capital of our country, but we are not going to Skopje right away, we will enjoy the beauties on the way to our final destination. We will visit a special place where we will enjoy beautiful surroundings and wonderful food.

If you are in the capital of the Republic of North Macedonia, the city located in a low valley surrounded by seven mountains, what you will probably immediately notice is the variety it has to offer you. Dynamic urban life, cultural heritage, a tradition that has progressed in an attractive way, a mixture of old and new, of East and West, of urbanism and nature. Everything somehow works in tandem and allows for a unique and unique experience. Even in the ancient records of Justinian Prima, they say that in that city there are beautiful squares, bridges and inns. Skopje - passion for life! When you first come here, you will be amazed by the greenery of the city. The mountain Vodno dominates the city. Who can forget the favorites in Karposh, the Japanese cherries on Maksim Gorky Street. However, since time immemorial, Skopje has been best known for the smell of linden trees and the shadows of chestnut trees.

The stone bridge that spans the Vardar River in the center of the city has a history of 1,500 years (6th century). It has undergone several major renovations, which is why the biggest restoration that took place during the time of Murat II in the 15th century is often taken as the beginning of the construction of the bridge. Now it connects the new with the old part of the city.

Go back in time through the narrow streets of the Old Skopje Bazaar. It has been a center of trade since the 12th century, and now represents an iconic heritage of the city. At the entrance you are greeted by the Daut Pasha Hammam, that former public bath that is now a gallery space, only introduces you to the spirit of what the Ottoman buildings in that old corner of the city have been repurposed for. Culture mixes with tradition in the full symbiotic sense of the word. It is a living memory of the past and the Ottoman heritage with all its mosques, hammams, anus and hundreds of artisan shops. Even today, those lively cafes, tea rooms, restaurants and shops blend perfectly into the timeless surroundings and offer an original experience for every traveler.

The Kale (stone) fortress is the dominant structure in the city and another great symbol of the city. According to archaeologists, the stone blocks from which the fortress was built were taken from the ruined city of Skopje in the 6th century during the reign of the Byzantine Emperor Justinian. Skopje's Kale fortress is located on a high hill called Gradiste, above the city of Skopje, overlooking the Vardar River, and has been of strategic importance for this significant city for centuries.

As the highest point in the city, the Kale has always been appreciated by the local population. Settlements existed in that place even before the walls were built. Kale is one of the most popular places to visit in Skopje. The fortress offers a fantastic view of the city, as well as the possibility to reach the Old Skopje Bazaar from the city in a few minutes. Skopje is a city internationally known for being the birthplace of Mother Teresa. The memorial house of Mother Teresa was built in honor of the life and work of the only Nobel laureate from N. Macedonia. The location was not chosen by chance, because the church where Mother Teresa was baptized used to be located at that location. The museum exhibits pictures and exhibits of the most famous humanitarian, and a chapel has been built at the top, where believers can attend mass.

Skopje is a city with medieval churches and monasteries such as St. Panteleimon from the XII century and the composition "The Lamentation of Christ", which is considered a harbinger of the Renaissance in Italy.

Skopje has a beautiful quay on the Vardar River, deep shadows in the City Park, the smell of linden trees in June. See Skopje from the top of Vodno mountain. It is the ultimate adventure destination and has something to offer for everyone. Whether you are an experienced hiker or just up for a relaxing walk, the mountain offers trails for every level of fitness. A great place for adrenaline enthusiasts, cyclists and paragliders. For others, who just want an amazing view and to enjoy the fresh air, there are several cafes and a cable car that will take you to the top. The Millennium Cross is located on the top of Vodno mountain, directly above the city of Skopje. With a height of 66 m, it is one of the tallest buildings in Macedonia. It was built in honor of two thousand years of Christianity in Macedonia and the arrival of the new millennium.

Macedonia Square is the main square of the city of Skopje, the capital of N. Macedonia. The square was built in the period from 1920 to 1940. Urbanistically, the Square was home to a large number of important buildings such as: The National Bank with marble facades, the monumental Officer's House, the Ristic Palace etc. With the "Skopje 2014" project, the Square gets a new urban look and is enriched with more sculptures and monuments of important actors and personalities in Macedonian history such as: Alexander the Great, Car Samuil, Gemidzii, Dame Gruev, Justinian I, Goce Delchev.

The Museum of the Macedonian Struggle is located on the left bank of the Vardar River. The museum was officially opened in 2011, on the occasion of twenty years since the declaration of independence of the Republic. The museum itself consists of thirteen departments, and each of them represents the history of the Macedonian people from several periods. In the first room, the early period of the Macedonian struggle is presented, when the adjust did not yet have a defined political platform.

All other rooms are further connected chronologically, up to the period of communism. In the museum there are 109 wax figures of personalities from Macedonian history. In addition to the wax figures, the Museum also has a large number of samples of original weapons, original furniture, mass scenes, and documents. We will end the trip with a gala dinner in a national restaurant where we will once again enjoy wonderful food and beautiful traditional music.

Dear friends, this is only a small part of the beauties that our country has.

You are welcome to socialize, enjoy the hospitality of our people, feel the warmth of the sun shining above us, taste the natural food and create moments and memories that will stay long in our hearts and minds.

Taste gifts from the land in the south, nurtured by the Sun. Taste the tradition, the craft, the love for delicious food and wine. Taste the unspoiled nature, the mountains, the lakes, the rivers, the adventure.

We expect you...

IMPORTANT NOTE:

In order to organized the friendships week, we need at least 40 participants but do the lack of capacities in the small cities no more than 80 participants.
